31st Mississippi Infantry Regiment

Like almost all Civil War units the 31st Mississippi Infantry was frequently known in the field by the name of its commanding officer. Names of this type used by or for the regiment include:

Jehu A. Orr's Infantry
John W. Balfours Infantry
Marcus D. L. Stephens' Infantry
James W. Drane's Infantry
Francis M. Gillespie's Infantry
Harvey E. Topp's Infantry
Robert A. Collin's Infantry
John F. Menahan's Infantry

The higher commands to which the regiment was assigned were:

June 16, 1862 -- Garrison: Vicksburg, Mississippi, Department of Mississippi & East Louisiana

August 1862 -- Helm's Brigade, Clark's Division, Breckinridge's Command, District of the Mississippi, Department #2

September 1862 -- Helm's Brigade, District of the Mississippi, Department #2

Holly Springs, where there was a reorganization. The 31st along with the 1st, 3rd, and 22nd Mississippi Infantry Regiments formed Rust's Brigade, under command of Col. Stephens, while Gen. Rust commanded the division until Gen. Loring took command.

The federal troops occupied Corinth and neighboring points and were concentrating at Grand Junction and LaGrange, Tennessee. The regiment took part in VanDorn's advance in September and the brigade had a light skirmish at LaGrange, after which they retired to Holly Springs, where Col. Stephens was post commandant during the battle of Corinth, October 3-4, 1862, his regiment remaining there on guard. However, they advanced as the army was retreating and met the enemy at Chewalla Creek.

When Gen. Grant advanced from Memphis down the Central Railroad they fell back from Holly Springs to the Tallahatchie River and thence in December to Coffeeville, where they participated in the battle of December 5, Col. Orr commanding the brigade and Stephens the regiment. The brigade pursued the federal advance back to the main army at Water Valley, and then retired to Grenada. VanDorn's raid to Holly Springs followed and Grant retreated to Memphis.

The regiment was then sent to the support of Gen. S. D. Lee at Chickasaw Bayou. The brigade was met at Edwards as it moved to Vicksburg by Gen. Featherston, who took command, the brigade then including the 15th, 22nd, 31st, and 33rd Infantry Regiments and Rayburn's Battalion. Featherston's Brigade was ordered to Snyder's Bluff March 19 on account of the federal reconnaissance by Gen. Sherman and Adm. Porter on Rolling Fork and Deer Creek, and toward the close of the 10 days' operation the 31st joined the 22nd and 33rd at the scene of action. Col. Orr then taking command of the Confederate forces with Featherston. After an unique campaign in the flooded swamps with the federal gunboats that were crowding their way through the bayou, the gunboats escaped into Black Bayou, and the regiment took steamer for Fort Pemberton, confronted by a Federal fleet.

Late in April they moved to Grenada, whence the regiment was ordered again to Edwards. On May 3 Col. Orr, at Edwards, was ordered, "on the arrival of Featherston, with his brigade, your regiment and Snodgrass' Alabama Regiment will go to the Big Black bridge."

Grant landed at Bruinsburg May 4, and on May 5 the brigade advanced toward Port Gibson in support of Gen. Bowen, thence returned to Edwards, and participated in the battle of Baker's Creek May 14. They were with Loring's Division, on the right of the army, under artillery fire, while the battle was fought on the left at Champion's Hill. Late in the day the brigade was moved to the left, and the 31st was placed in position by Gen. S. D. Lee, where they held the enemy in check while the Confederate troops retreated across the creek. When Loring began to fall back, after sunset, his way was cut off. Featherston's Brigade formed behind the division artillery and repulsed two attacks of the enemy, and then moved as silently as possible, passing the federal camps, to Crystal Springs, and two or three days later reached Jackson, and soon went into camp at Canton.

During the early part of July they were with Johnston's army near the Big Black River, retreating thence to Jackson after the surrender of Jackson, July 4. At Jackson they entrenched on a hill north of the residence of Col. Withers, and Sherman rapidly following, his entrenched line was established at the Insane Asylum. An assault was made by the federals and repulsed, and in this action Major Topp was mortally wounded and several others of the regiment killed or wounded.

After the hostilities at Jackson, July 9-16, the brigade retreated across Pearl River in the night, and went in line of battle near Brandon to meet pursuit.

Lt. Col. Stephens was commanding the regiment, in Featherston's Brigade, Loring's Division, army of Company H: Wounded: Capt. G. W. Naron, Lt. W. M. Foster.

Company I: Missing: Capt. C. W. Richards, Lt. J. C. Hallum.

Company K: Missing: Capt. G. W. Lewdon, Lt. P. G. McGraw.

Besides those named of the field and staff, Sergeant-Major G. T. Hightower and Ensign J. V. Bailew were also severely wounded.

The regiment was on duty on the battle field of July 22, east of Atlanta, and actively participated in the battle of Ezra Church, July 28, west of the city, after which it was on duty during the siege, entrenching and skirmishing, until the evacuation at the close of August. The regiment was commanded during the Atlanta campaign by Col. M. D. L. Stephens, until the battle of Ezra Church, when Col. Stephens took command of the brigade, and Gen. Featherston of Loring's Division.

In the October, 1864, campaign on the Chattanooga and Atlanta Railroad, Featherston's Brigade captured the Federal post at Big Shanty, was with Loring's Division in the capture of Acworth, and with Stewart's Corps in the destruction of the railroad between Dalton and Resaca, after which they moved through the mountains to Gadsden, Alabama, skirmished at Decatur, October 26-29, where the regiment had several killed and wounded. Thence they moved to Tuscumbia.

At the beginning of the Atlanta campaign Polk's Army of the Mississippi had an enrollment of over 40,000 and an aggregate present of over 25,000. On November 6, under the title of Stewart's Corps, its return was 26,714 present and absent, aggregate present 12,684. The corps crossed the Tennessee River November 20 and marched against Schofield at Columbia, on the 29th, making a movement toward Spring Hill to support Forrest and Cheatham, held at bay by Stanley's federal division. In a confused night march they never reached their destination. Hood believed that if they had, history would have been different. November 30 they followed Schofield to the strong entrenchments in front of Franklin, on the Harpeth, and suffered frightful losses in the assault. Out of 250 men in the 31st Regiment, 45 were killed and about 100 wounded.

The 31st advanced to the attack across the railroad and through an abatis, under heavy fire, and then fixed bayonets and charged. One after another 10 color bearers had been shot down until Color Sergeant Spence Neal carried the flag. When he was shot he gave the flag to Col. Stephens, who, with the few then able to advance, charged up to the trenches and was in the act of planting the flag on the works when his thigh was shattered by a rifle ball and he fell in the ditch. He gave the flag to Sgt. Hunter, who was shot as he took it, but managed to obey the order to carry the colors to the rear. An Illinois soldier came out of the works and adjusted a bandage to prevent Col. Stephens from bleeding to death, and when the Federal army retreated that night he was carried across the river and left warmly wrapped and with a fire at his feet to be found by his men next day.

Thomas' army was safely concentrated at Nashville, and Hood began fortifying a line around that city. Loring's Division held the front of Stewart's position, a line of one mile in length across the Granny White pike, supported by redoubts on five hills. Capt. Robert A. Collins was in command of the 31st on Dec. 10. On Dec. 15 Thomas attacked and carried two of the redoubts, capturing many. Loring's Division gallantly formed a second line to meet the flank attack. On Dec. 16 they repulsed every attack until a fiercer assault was successful on their left. At Columbia, Dec. 20, Featherston's Brigade was selected as one of the seven to be commanded by Walthall as the infantry rear guard, remaining in the face of the enemy until the remainder of the army had marched two days. Dec. 21 the regiment had a total strength of 93 officers and men. On the retreat from Columbia they fought gallantly, checking

THE CALDWELL FAMILY

We of the Christain persuasion quoting the old cliche that all of our ancestors go back to Adam,different only in the environment in which we happen to live, and that is not always our choice to make. My ancestors on my Father and Mother's side of the family came from different environments I'm sure. Each had been persecuted for one reason or another, and fled to a new country that promised freedom to be free in their pursuit of happiness as their own preception of what it meant to them. Its matters little to me the originally of the Clan of my Father and Mother's, but I thank God that they came through Ireland long enough to absorb the things I admire of the Irish. Yes,they are proud to wear the green and orange whenever they feel it is their freedom to do so. I have already researched my Father's family history as Irish Americans. I am more familiar with it,because I spent most of my early years with the Limerick side of the family. As for my Mother's side I have relied on my Grand Mother Caldwell's Nephew Harry J. Caldwell of Leake County, Mississippi for most of the research. It is a fascinating story how they came through Ireland on their quest for freedom.

First generation of the Caldwell family*(Arshiac spe/lgng Caldwell) dates far back into *(Antiquity), in Central Europe. By the twelfth century they were living in the Southern Alps of Northern Italy. They belonged to a religious sect called*(Waldensian), which name derived from their leader,Peter Waldo. They had been excommunicated from the Roman Catholic Church and were severley perscuted,as dissenters from the Romanist Church by law established. They moved, as a group, to the south of France, but found no surcease of perscution from the French Monarch. The old family seemed to have ended with an heiress in the fifteenth century, but after the *(Edict of Nantes), it was found that three brothers had escaped to Scotland. Here they found favor with James the First of England and were permitted to buy an

*NOTE

- * (Arshiac spe/lgng Caldwell)-Meaning primitive or original having to do with family names.
- * (Antiquity)- Early period of history,especially before the middle ages.
- * (Waldensians)- A sect of Purtian dissenters from the Roman Catholic Church which arose about 1170 in Sourthern France through the preaching of Peter Waldo: They were excommunicated in 1148 and persecuted. but still survived in the Alps of France and Italy: They were also called Vaudois.
- * (Edict of Nantes)- A decree issued in 1598 by Henry the Fourth of France giving political equality to the Huguenots: It was revoked in 1685.

estate in Olney Frith, where they prospered.

Ann Caldwell, was a grandmother of Oliver Cromwell. When Cromwell went to Ireland as Lord Protector, he took several of his Caldwell cousins with him. When Charles the 2nd was restored to the throne of England, Cromwell was recalled and again three brothers sought new territory. This time they came to Colonial America. They landed at New Castle, Delaware in 1724.

William Caldwell and Rebecca Parka (Parque) first settled in Pennsylvania, but moved to Virginia in 1749. William C. Caldwell died at Cub Creek Virginia. He established the Calwell line in America that is related, directly to Mrs. Vaughn Briggs Simmons Sasser, of Carthage, Mississippi and to the Caldwell in Leake County, Mississippi.

William Caldwell had been a Captain in the early Indian Wars. He and Rebecca Parks had nine children, four sons and five daughters. The children of William Caldwell and Rebecca Parks were: 1.-John Caldwell married Elizabeth Galman: 2.-Margaret Caldwell married John Richie of South Carolina: 3.- Martha Caldwell married a Revolutionary Soldier, Patrick Calhoun. They were the parents of John Caldwell Calhoun, noted Orator and Statesman from Abbeville, South Carolina: 4.- Elenor Caldwell married John More: 5.- Elizabeth Caldwell married Robert Gillian a Revolutionary Soldier: 6.- William Thomas Caldwell married Anne Williams: 7.- Rebecca Caldwell married Josiah East: 8.- Sarah Caldwell married Dr. James Martin: 9.- James Caldwell married Eliza Forest.

William, John and James Caldwell all served in the American Revolution.

William Thomas Caldwell married Elizabeth Anne Williams. He was born in Virginia and moved to South Carolina with his Mother, brothers and sisters. They are both buried in Newton County, Mississippi.

William Thomas son of William and Elizabeth Anne Williams married Mary (Last name unknown) had a daughter, Amanda born in Newton County, Mississippi in 1830. She married Perry Simmons in 1850 and died about 1875 near Lake, Mississippi. He was born at Garlandville, Mississippi and died September 6, 1864 at Atlanta, Georgia while serving in the Confederate Army.

Perry Simmons and Amanda Caldwell had a son, Christopher Simmons who was born January 5, 1852 in Kemper County, Mississippi. He died at Lake Mississippi September 30, 1908. He married Mary Starling who was born December 29, 1852 in Kemper County, Mississippi. She died at Lake, Mississippi on May 11, 1941.

Christopher Simmons and Mary Starling had a daughter Vaughny Briggs Simmons born September 1, 1889 and was married on March 19, 1918 to Joseph Harry Sasser Sr. of Lincoln County, Mississippi. The Simmons line is well known in mississippi. Especially in political and educational circles.

The following are random notes from the Caldwell genealogy: In the "D.A.R. Patriots' Index of Revolutionary Soldiers" there are sixty-two Caldwells listed. There are four Davids, eight James, fifteen Johns, four Roberts, four Thomases and six Williams. The Caldwell family furnished sixty-two patriots in the American Revolution. Among them were three wives who served as spies or Curries behind the enemy lines.

Four Caldwell brothers fought in the Battle of King's Mountain. They were Samuel, Thomas, William and John. William is credited with killing Major Innish, a well known and feared British Officer and bringing his spurs, gun and horse to prove it! Another William Caldwell, a cousin of the one in the narrative, drew out the sword a British Officer had driven into Major Robert Henry's arm and hip: the sufferer saying that "the taking out was more painful than the putting in."

William Caldwell, a Lieutenant at King's Mountain, was reported dead. His brother Samuel went to look for his body, but found him alive. He cleaned and dressed his wounds and took him home where he recovered.

My kin came from the Caldwell family that settled in Leake County, Mississippi around the eighteen hundreds in and around the Freeny Community. Some interesting stories that I have learned through the study of the history of Leake County is as follows:

The second issue of the Carthaginian(Vol.2) on Wednesday March 20th, 1872 carried the following notice concerning Church Service. "Presbyterian, Cartage 1st Sunday; Forrest Grove, 3rd Sunday Greenwood, 2nd and 4th Sunday each month. P.O. Ofahoma and Robert Caldwell."

It is known that Rev. Caldwell served these Churches from 1871 to 1877. The notice in the paper was discontinued for some reason.

FREENY COMMUNITY

The first Post Office was located at the Dr. James D. Freeny place. The first Postmaster was Micajah W. Lyle. The first Post Office opened on July 19, 1888. Before the post office was established people had to go to Cartage or some place to get their mail. From where the post office originally stood, it was moved to Squire Caldwell's home near the Freeny store, presently known as Herrington's Grocery. At one time the post office was in a room in a store owned by Mr. Henry Caldwell and Mr. J.R. Phillips where it remained until the establishment of RFD mail from Cartage, other Postmasters were Thomas W. Reagor, February 7, 1889; Robert W. Caldwell, October 2nd, 1889; J.H. Caldwell 1890; Henry I. Caldwell, November 24, 1899. The post office at Freeny was discontinued November 30th, 1904.

HISTORY OF TUSCOLA COMMUNITY, LEAKE COUNTY, MISSISSIPPI

Lenard L. Caldwell was Postmaster of the post office in the community of Tuscola on April 20th, 1880.

The first gasoline powered boat to operate on the Pearl River was built in 1902 by Henry Ingle Caldwell, and was called "Bell of the Bend" it was this boat that brought the first tank of gasoline to Leake County. All kinds of farm produce, cotton, cotton seed, corn, ect. was transported from Edinburg to Jackson by this boat, which brought back general merchandise. In 1904 it hit a cypress snag out of Madison Station at a place called "Buzzard Roost Bend" and sank with a load of farm produce. The crew managed to get the gasoline motor off the boat before it sank and unto a sand bar. A shed was erected over the motor to protect it until another boat could be built.

In 1905 Caldwell built another boat, calling it "Jaunita", but he sold it to J.W. Lewis at Ludlo. Later, he built still another boat called the "Caldwell No. 3". He used it until it became unsafe, about 1912. The engine from the boat was then used to run a grist mill at Caldwell's farm. The grist mill is still in operation at Freeny on the Caldwell farm, except it is now run with a tractor. These boats would be making about ten miles an hour downstream and from four to six miles per hour upstream, always carried from fifteen to twenty tons of cargo. Pearl River is very crooked and it would take Captain Caldwell's boat one long day to make the trip to Jackson, but the trip back upstream with the boat heavily loaded took three days. Members of the crew would sound a trumpet along the river to tell of the boat's approaching so that people could flag them if they had goods for hauling. In 1913, Caldwell built the "Annie Clifton" for W.P. Malone, who later sold it to D.B. Mulls. It sank once with a load of staves, but was raised by Caldwell.

John Hawkins Phillips was born December 14, 1844 in Coosa County, Alabama. He married Martha Ann Sanders December 2nd, 1867, in Leake County, Mississippi. She was a sister of Francis M. Sanders, husband of Sarah Frances Phillips. They had seven children as follows:

1.-George Winton Phillips born January 10th, 1870. He married Amanda Regan (first wife) Mary Morrison (second wife). He died July 5th, 1945, and is buried in the Freeny Cemetery. 2.-Alice Cornelia Phillips born in February 24th, 1872. She Married Henry Ingle Caldwell. She died August 16th, 1931 and is buried in the Freeny Cemetery. 3-John Robert Phillips was born October 10th, 1874. He married Ruby Stribling. He died February 13th, 1961, and is buried in the Freeny Cemetery. 4-Margurtie Phillips was born September 22nd, 1878. She married Willie Collier. She died July 30th, 1952, and is buried in the Freeny Cemetery. 5.-O'Zella Phillips was born December 19th, 1881. She married Floyd O'Bannon. They moved to Port Neches, Texas and both are buried there. She died July 17th, 1974. 6-Hugh Phillips was born March 31th, 1888. He married Fontaine Regan. He died September 22nd, 1964 and is buried in the Freeny Cemetery. 7-Percy Austin Phillips was born November 4th, 1885. As a young man in the early 1900's he piloted a boat down the Pearl River to Jackson carrying cotton, cotton seed, corn, peas, and other farm produce. On the return trip they brought goods to supply local merchants. The owner of the boat was Captain Henry Caldwell, his brother-in-law.

LOCATION OF THE FREENY COMMUNITY

Freney is located five miles southeast of Cartage and one of the most progressive civil-minded, and religious communities in Leake County. Some of the early settlers who came to this County was the following: Holsumback, Owens, Bridges, Rushings, McDaniels, Caldwell, Colliers, Alfords, Cannons, Warwicks, Taylors, Joyners, Williams, Boyds, Weems, Langstons, Mathenys, Donalds, Quicks, Hendricks, McBeaths, McFaddens, Jones, Allens, Ellis, Snuggs, Striblings, Phillips, McMillins, Moores Wares, Bryans, Sanders, Rigsby, Hardins and Freeney's.

Amander Caldwell was born in Newton County, Mississippi in 1830. She married Perry Simmons in 1850. He was born in 1824 at Garlandsville, Mississippi and died 6th September, 1864 at Atlanta, Georgia while serving in the confederate Army.

SOME MISCELLANEOUS HISTORY OF THE CALDWELL FAMILY

In 1904 the Bluff Springs School was moved to Freeny in Leake County, Mississippi in the area where the Baptist Parsonage now stands. Mr. Henry Caldwell donated the land, and a two-story building was erected consisting of two large rooms. There are no record showing when Bluff Springs School began operation. The records do name the teachers as follow:

1889 thru 1891 was Robert Caldwell, J.H. Caldwell, J.C. Colman, and J.W. Snuggs.

In the school year of 1933- 1934, the Freeny basketball team won the Southern Region and went to State and won third place. One of the girls on that team was Audrey Caldwell, one of the first graduating classes at Freeny High School.

I have recorded my lineage through my Father's side of the family. Now I will attempt to show my lineage through my Mother's side of the family. From William Caldwell who first set foot on American soil in 1724 at New Castle Delaware. All the way through my Mother whose maiden name was Dewey Seleta Beddingfield. Information is more difficult to come by in the part of the country that the Caldwell's first settled in America. William Caldwell was born in Belfast Ireland and was a descendant of the Caldwell's that came to Ireland when Lord Cromwell came from England as Lord Protector of Ireland. William's wife's name is unknown, but they had a Son who also was born in Belfast Ireland. His name was Samuel J. Caldwell and his wife name Jane her maiden name unknown. They lived and died in the Newberry District of South Carolina. Their place of burial is unknown.

Samuel J. Caldwell and his wife Jane had six children as follows:

1.-James Hamilton (Squire) Caldwell

Born 27th June, 1818 in the Newberry District of South Carolina. HE died 19th January, 1900 and is buried in the Freeny-Caldwell Cemetery. His wife Mary Elizabeth Wamsley was born 5th May, 1834. They were married 6th April, 1848 by Walb Bullinder.

2-Sam Caldwell

Birth and death unknown.

Wife's name was Jane her maiden name unknown.

3-Hugh Caldwell

Mississippi and died 6th September, 1864 at Atlanta, Georgia while serving in the confederate Army.

To the union of Dewey Seleta Beddingfield and Roger M. Limerick was born two Sons. The first was still born date of birth unknown. He is buried beside his Mother in Blackwater Baptist Church Cemetery. The second Son was born January 26th, 1920, and was named Rorer McRae Limerick. That being the end of my lineage through my Mother's side of the family, which would be the Caldwell's from my Grandmother Seleta Elizabeth Caldwell.

From the Limerick side of the family I have my lineage through my Grandfather Thomas L. Limerick. This will give my children and my Grand Children an idea from where I came, and anyone that is in search of their ancestors. I am known to family members as just plain McRae, which is really a family name taken from the Doctor that delivered me. From the six children of my Uncle Thomas Limerick and Aunt Ruby Beddingfield and my Father Roger M. Limerick and Dewey Beddingfield's to children I am the only one living.

Bill Parker, Living Northwest of City Killed by Stabbing

Mr. Bill Parker, aged about 60 years, is dead and Claude Houston, aged 40 and his twin brother, Paul Houston, are in the county jail, the first named being charged with murder, the latter, Paul, of being an accessory, as the result of an alleged stabbing affray late Saturday evening, near J. A. J. McDonald's store, 16 to 18 miles northwest of Meridian.

Sheriff John Martin, Jailer McGee and Officer Yarborough brought the brothers to the jail at an early hour Sunday morning after having been called to the scene of the tragedy.

It appears that the trouble arose over the "taking up" of some cattle belonging to a Mr. Gibson by the Houston brothers. Gibson, it appears, called upon Mr. Parker to aid in securing the release of the cattle, and it was while engaged in this act that the quarrel resulted that caused his death by a stab wound in the neck, inflicted, it is said, by Claude Houston.

Paul Houston, it appears, did not actively engage in the fighting that followed the quarrel, but is alleged to have urged his brother on to the deed, and was therefore brought in on a charge of accessory to the crime.

But one stab wound was necessary to cause Parker's death, the knife entering the throat on the left side, cutting the jugular vein, it is supposed.

Sheriff Martin and his companions disregarding warnings of neighbors, went to the house of the Houstons, where the arrest was made without difficulty, both brothers coming to the city without offering resistance.

Bunch of Chickens in Hands of Police

Early today the police were called to Irby's store in the western part of the city to investigate suspicious circumstances surrounding a bunch of chickens a negro boy was offering to Mr. Irby for sale. On the arrival of the police the boy had departed, leaving the chickens. Police Officers Dennis and Allen, who answered the call, returned to headquarters, bringing the chickens with them. They are there now and if they were stolen it is likely the owner will make the fact known when the loss is discovered.

Trial of Claude Houston Charged With Murder of W. H. Parker Taken Up in Court Today With Effort to Secure a Jury

The fourth and last week of the present term of the Lauderdale criminal court was convened this morning by Judge Fatheree. Immediately after which the work of securing a jury from a special venire of forty men to try the case of Claude Houston indicted along with his brother, Paul Houston, by the recent grand jury for the killing of W. H. Parker, the traged having been the result, it is alleged, of a difficulty that arose over the impounding of some stock.

Claude and Paul Houston are twin brothers, aged about 40 years, and belong to one of the most prominent families of the county, neither of whom, however, is married. They and the man they are accused of slayin were residents of the Collingsville neighborhood about 10 miles northwest of Meridian, when the killing was done.

The brothers, who are ably represented by Attorneys Hardin H. Brooks and Charles B. Cameron, secured a severance of the indictments and are to be tried separately. Claude's trial starting today and that of his brother Paul, to start Thursday.

The prosecution of the brothers is being conducted by District Attorney Martin Miller and County Attorney Cliff Mulroy, assisted by Attorney Frank K. Ethridge.

The case promises to be one hard fought and of great interest, as was denoted by the interest manifest today when the work of securing a jury was begun. The taking of testimony will hardly be begun before the middle of the afternoon, if then.

Defense Opened Its Case in Trial of Claude Houston Today With Introduction of Testimony to Show Defendant Was of Feeble Mind and Mentally Irresponsible; State Rested Its Case Late Yesterday

The state having closed its case yesterday afternoon in the trial of Claude Houston, indicted for killing W. H. Parker November 8 last in the Collinsville community, the defense opened this morning upon the reconvening of the circuit court with the introduction of testimony to prove that the defendant was irresponsible at the time of the homicide, because of his mental condition, the theory of the defense apparently being that the defendant is of feeble mind and not responsible for his acts under stress of great excitement, such as it appeared from the evidence of the state existed when the homicide was committed.

Among the witnesses testifying to the mental condition of the defendant at the forenoon session of court today were Dr. T. J. Houston, city health officer and brother of the defendant; Dr. J. M. Buchanan, former superintendent of the East Mississippi Insane hospital and a recognized expert on mental diseases; Dr. T. G. Cleveland, local practicing physician and Dr. M. J. L. Hoye, present superintendent of the East Mississippi Insane hospital. Each of these witnesses testified that the defendant's mind was no better developed than that of an eight year old boy, and in their opinion he could not have been any more responsible for his acts than a boy of that age.

It is understood that there are a number of other witnesses to be offered by the state to prove the irresponsibility of the defendant because of his mental condition and the case is not likely to be submitted to the jury until late tonight or probably not until tomorrow morning.

The contention of the defense will probably be throughout the trial that the defendant slew the deceased during a fit of insanity due to excitement of an unusual character, as there was no provocation for the deed, the deceased and the defendant being on friendly terms up to the moment of the tragedy.

The state made rapid progress in the trial of Claude Houston during the afternoon yesterday, the jury being accepted by both sides at 3:20, the state resting its case at 5:30.

The first witness to be called to the stand by the state in opening its case was Mrs. W. H. Parker, wife of deceased, who it is alleged the defendant killed with a knife stuck wound in the neck. Mrs. Parker's testimony threw but little light on the actual killing see if they could not settle the dispute that had arisen between Sam Gibson and the Houstons regarding the cows and secure their release.

Mrs. Parker was followed on the stand by Sam Gibson, who testified to his cows being taken up and that he had gone in the afternoon to the home of Claude and Paul Houston to see about getting them released; that they stated that they would have to have compensation for the damage his stock had done and that he replied that he was willing to do whatever was right in the matter that he had told one of them that one of the cows had a young calf and had not been milked for two days and that it might be that damages would be asked of them; that Claude Houston first told him that the damage would be about $5 but that after he said he might demand damages Claude flew into a violent rage, cursing him for everything he could think of and declared the damage would be $20. He further testified that when he was cursed and abused he left.

Walter Gilton was the next witness and the only one who is supposed to have been an eye-witness to the killing. He testified in substance that he started with deceased to see the Houston brothers the latter proposing that he might be able to adjust the differences between Sam Gibson and Claude and Paul Houston regarding the cows, that when they reached a point in the car about 300 yards from the Houston home they met the brothers, trying to repel some stock that had gotten out that Claude Houston caught sight of deceased, asked who he was and then began to curse and abuse him in a loud voice, accusing him of releasing the cows that they were attempting to repel; that deceased denied having released the cows when Claude went up to him and said he would "cut his d—n heart out." A few more words passed, the witness testified, when Claude, encouraged by his brother Paul struck out with his knife, striking deceased in the throat.

"As Mr. Parker staggered with the blow I caught him in my arms," testified the witness, and he said, "he got me."

"A few minutes later Mr. Parker expired and I picked him up and was on my way with him when I was met by my brother Sam and together we carried deceased to my house."

Walter and Sam Gibson testified that Claude and Paul Houston were their

It is understood that there are a fered by the state to prove the irresponsibility of the defendant because of his mental condition and the case is not likely to be submitted to the jury until late tonight or probably not until

The contention of the defense will a fit of insanity due to excitement of an unusual character, as there was no

edy.

The state made rapid progress in the trial of Claude Houston during the afternoon yesterday, the jury being accepted by both sides at 3:20, the state resting its case at 5:30.

The first witness to be called to the stand by the state in opening its case was Mrs. W. H. Parker, wife of deceased, who it is alleged the defendant killed with a knife stab wound in the neck. Mrs. Parker's testimony threw but little light on the actual killing and was more for the purpose of establishing the age of deceased, which she said was 63 years, his physical condition at the time of his death, which she said was all right but that her husband was not what might be termed a robust man. However, he was able to work for his living and he was in good health. She testified that on the evening her husband was killed she accompanied him to the home of Walter Gibson; that he went from there to the home of Sam Gibson, a brother of Walter, whose cows had been taken up by the Houston brothers, that later her husband left with Walter to go to the Houston home to differences between Harr Gibson and Claude and Paul Houston regarding the cows, that when they reached a point in the cut about 300 yards from the Houston home they met the brothers trying to round some stock that had gotten out that Claude Houston caught sight of deceased, asked who he was and then began to curse and blame him in a loud voice, accusing him of releasing the cows that they were attempting to圆en; that deceased denied having released the cows when Claude went up to him and said he would "cut his d—n heart out." A few more words passed, the witness testified, when Claude, encouraged by his brother Paul struck out with his knife, striking deceased in the throat.

"As Mr. Parker staggered with the blow I caught him in my arms," testified the witness, and he said, "he got me."

"A few minutes later Mr. Parker expired and I picked him up and was on my way with him when I was met by my brother Sam and together we carried deceased to my house."

Walter and Sam Gibson testified that Claude and Paul Houston were their uncles.

Dick Pool, a former justice of the peace, testified that the Houston brothers had queer notions at times.

Sam Gibson and his wife testified that they could hear the Houston brothers cursing just before the killing of Mr.
Parker from where they were, a half to three-quarters of a mile away. Sam testifying that when he heard the cursing he started to the scene, meeting his brother, Walter, carrying deceased in his arms, both being very bloody. With the testimony of Mrs.
Sam Gibson the state rested its case and court adjourned until this morning

Germans Meet With Curt Statement That They Must Stop Quibbling and Get Down to Business on Question of War Indemnity

London, March 1.—Germany's indemnity offer today is less than one fourth what the allies demanded. The allies demanded 226,000,000 gold marks ($56,500,000) and 12 per cent tax on German exports.

The Germans today offered to pay 30,000,000 gold marks ($7,500,000).

However the Germans claim already to have paid 20,000,000 gold marks ($5,000,000).

London, March 1.—(Leased Wire. By Earle C. Reeves.)—Germany made her counter indemnity proposals to the allies today and they were held unsattouch with Berlin, seeking fresh orders.

The allied statesmen met at Premier Lloyd George's official residence late in the afternoon and drew up a formal answer to be handed to the Germans at St. James' palace tomorrow.

In the brief session of the indemnity conference at Lancaster House today, the Germans were flatly informed that no quibbling would be allowed and that they must accept the allied decision.

It was generally held that the position of France, which is demanding direct and forceful military action against Germany to compel payment, was strengthened by the outcome of the first meeting of the allied and German statesmen.

Dr. Simons, in presenting the German case, declared that the forcing of the Paris decisions upon Germany "would be a great menace to the rest of the world". He urged the allies to fix a total capital sum.

Jury Returns Verdict of Guilty Against Claude Houston, Fixing His Punishment at Life Imprisonment in the Penitentiary; Twin Brother, Paul to Be Tried Tomorrow

"We the jury find the defendant guilty as charged and fix his punishment at life imprisonment in the state penitentiary," was the verdict returned this morning at 9:45 in the case of Claude Houston, indicted for the murder of W. H. Parker, former Justice of the peace of the Collinville community in the northern part of the county on the evening of November 6, last, which has been on trial in the circuit court for the past two days.

Immediately following the reading of the verdict of the jury by Circuit Clerk Roy Itush, the defendant, who sat quietly beside his twin brother, Paul Houston, and who listened to the verdict without show of feeling, was called before the Judge's stand when sentence was passed by Judge Fatheree. He and his brother were then returned to the county jail by Jailer McGee.

The trial of Paul Houston, indicted jointly with Claude, is to be begun tomorrow morning, and it is generally believed that practically the same testimony introduced in the case of Claude will be introduced in his case, the defense sticking to the plea of irresponsibility in moments of extreme excitement.

The names of Dr. Cecil Champonox and Dr. Trent, the latter assistant physician at the East Mississippi Insane Hospital, were unintentionally omitted from the report of those who testified as experts in the trial of Claude Houston yesterday, each testifying that in their opinion the defendant's mind was no more developed than that of an eight or ten year old boy and that he was not responsible for his acts under stress of great excitement, such as was testified to by state witnesses at the time of the killing.

The defense closed its case in the early afternoon yesterday in the trial of Claude Houston with the hearing of expert testimony as to the mental condition of the defendant at the time of the homicide. By this testimony it was shown that defendant was of feeble mind and irresponsible for his acts under stress of great excitement.

The prosecution presented a number of witnesses in rebuttal, who testified they had known the defendant many years and that in their opinion he was capable of knowing moral right from wrong. Several of these witnesses, however, had not been associated with the defendant for 15 or 20 years and could not testify as to his condition definitely before the killing. Some of the witnesses would testify that they could tell Claude from Paul Houston, so closely do the twin brothers resemble each other, and in conversations they told about could not tell whether it was Claude or Paul who might be the speaker. There was some testimony to the effect that the brothers were high tempered and that they would become quite angry when they were opposed in argument, especially in political argument.

The argument before the jury was opened for the state by Attorney Frank K. Ethridge, who was followed for the defense by Charles B. Cameron and Hardin H. Brooks, while District Attorney Martin Miller closed for the state. The arguments were concluded at about 9 o'clock, each lawyer bringing out the facts from their respective standpoints in a manner that held the close attention of the jury and the large number of spectators.

After the jury had retired to its room to prepare its verdict court adjourned until 9 o'clock this morning.

G. W. ROBERSON CASE CALLED

When the trial of Claude Houston was disposed of with the verdict of the jury this morning the case of G. W. Roberson, charged with violation of the age of consent law in connection with the alleged mistreatment of a fourteen-year-old girl, was called for trial with the swearing of witnesses, who were placed under the rule. This is the second time the defendant has stood trial during the present term of court, the first time being when a mistrial was entered in the case wherein he was indicted for rape, the charge growing out of his alleged mistreatment of the small girl. The grand jury then returned the indictment charging the lesser offense, this being the case called for trial this morning.

Roberson is represented by Attorney Frank K. Ethridge, one of the two lawyers who were appointed by the court to represent him in his trial for rape, while the prosecution is being conducted by District Attorney Martin Miller, assisted by County Attorney Cliff Mulloy and Edward L. Snow.

Before the jury had been empaneled Judge Fatheree instructed Sheriff Martin to clear the court room of spectators, declaring that with the exception of court officials, lawyers, newspaper men and those directly connected with the trial of the case the public would be excluded during the taking of testimony.

At noon the defendant Roberson was on the witness stand undergoing a grilling by District Attorney Miller on an application presented by the defense asking for a continuance of the case for the term on a number of grounds, the foremost of which was the absence of an alleged important witness and another that if given time the defendant would produce witnesses who would testify on his behalf to evidence that would greatly aid in establishing his innocence. The defendant was put through a severe examination by the district attorney as to who the absent witness might be, the defendant mentioning the name of George Bush, the negro in whose house he is alleged to have kept the young girl in the case throughout one night, who, the defendant stated would testify to certain conversation he had had with the girl while she was in his home.

This negro is said to have left town and that his whereabouts are unknown to the authorities.

When court was recessed until the afternoon session the motion for continuance was still pending.

Champ Clark, Politicians of

Washington, March 2.—(Wire)—Champ Clark, of Missouri democratic leader, died here yesterday after 2 o'clock this afternoon. The aged leader had been fighting a long against pleurisy and complications for more than a week. Within a half hour of his death House unanimously passed a resolution conveying to the widow of Champ the sum of $7,500, which is the sum of one year's salary of a member of the House. The measure immediately went to the senate and probably will be acted on with equal speed by that body. The resolution was introduced by Representative Mann of Illinois.

Today during a brief interval he recovered consciousness. Mr. Clark, realizing that death was near, that leaders of the house and senate requested not to take an adjournment as he realized that they had a great deal of work before them and it the allies reply to the German counter proposals of Tuesday, rejecting them. It was understood that Premier Briand of France, Count Sforza, Italian foreign minister, would follow the British premier outlining the positions taken by France and Italy.

They expressed confidence, however, that the indemnity negotiations would continue. Momentous decisions had been reached by the allied supreme council and grave possibilities were bound up in the answer which Premier Lloyd George as spokesman for the allies, had been delegated to deliver.

It was reported upon reliable authority that the allies had prepared an ultimatum giving the Germans only four days to submit to the allies' demand for 226,000,000.00 gold marks ($56,500,000.00) indemnity. In event the Germans continued to balk the allies are prepared to put into effect at once the following program of compulsion.

Further armed occupation of German territory by French, Belgians and British troops; a blockade, both naval and economic; seizure of German customs and the imposition of punitive taxation upon German goods in allied countries.

Allied statesmen said they would hear no excuses from the Germans. They wanted a flat and definite answer.

"There is no room for talk," was the keynote of the editorial comment in the Chronicle, Daily Mail, Times, Daily Telegraph and Graphic.

Dr. Simons, in his reply, said that the Germans would study the documents presented by the allies and deliver their reply Monday.

"The British premier mistakes and misunderstands the intention of the German government", declared Dr. Simons. "I believe there will be no necessity for such action as is contemplated by the allies."

The crowds about St. James Palace stood silent as four motor cars bearing the German delegates drove up for the meeting. Dr. Walter Simons, the German foreign minister and head of the German delegation was pale and agitated.

When Premier Lloyd George and Marshal Foch arrived the crowd broke into cheers.

Dr. Simons consented to pose for a photograph. As he stood before the cameramen he was asked what course Germany would take. Another of the German delegates replying for the foreign minister, said that no new proposals had been drawn up.

"We can do no more than we have," said the delegate.

It was reported that the Germans had arranged to leave London within 36 hours. The management of the Savoy hotel, where the Germans have been staying, said that they had been notified by the German delegation that they would depart some time tomorrow.

Trial of Paul Houston, Charged With Murder of W. H. Parker, Taken Up Today in Circuit Court With Effort to Get Jury

The forenoon session of the circuit court today was taken up in an effort to empanel a jury in the case of Paul Houston charged in a joint indictment with his twin brother, Claude, with the murder of W. H. Parker, a former justice of the peace in the Collinsville community in the northern part of the county. The brothers secured a severance of their trials, Claude being tried the first two days of the present week in the court, the jury returning a verdict of guilty as charged, fixing the punishment at life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

In the case of the first of the twin brothers tried the so-called defense was that the defendant was of feeble mind and irresponsible for his acts under stress of extreme excitement, some of the best known alienists and practicing physicians of this city testifying that his mind was no greater developed than that of an eight-year-old boy.

Just what the defense will be in the case of Paul Houston, who it was shown by the testimony in the trial of Claude, did not lay hands on deceased and was not an actual participant in the death of the latter, although being present and one witness testifying that he urged his brother to strike with his knife, the wound proving fatal, will not be known until the defense opens its case at the close of that of the state. It is thought, however, that the defense will endeavor to show that Paul had nothing to do with the killing; that what he might have said at the time of the difficulty was in the way of a warning to his brother, believing the latter was in great bodily danger; that himself and deceased were friends and that he had no reason to desire his death or injury for any personal motive.

The taking of testimony is not expected to be begun before the late afternoon.

Trial of Paul Houston, Charged With Murder of W. H. Parker, Still Under Way and Not Likely to Reach the Jury Today

The trial of Paul Houston charged with the murder of W. H. Parker was resumed upon the reconvening of the circuit court this morning with a continuation of the testimony of Walter Gibson who was on the stand when court adjourned yesterday afternoon. At the conclusion of Walter's testimony, his brother, Sam, was recalled to the stand by the defense for further cross-examination for the purpose of showing the state of feeling between the Gibson and Houston families, the witness testifying that insofar as he knew it was good. Asked if he had contributed to a fund raised for the purpose of employing counsel to aid in the prosecution of the Houston boys, the witness testified that he had; that he had given Mrs. Parker, wife of deceased, $10 but testified that he did not know at the time what she intended doing with the money. He further testified that he had not circulated a petition soliciting funds for the purpose of employing counsel to aid in the prosecution and had not talked or heard the matter of a fund discussed.

The next witness introduced by the state was J. L. Phillips, who testified on direct examination that he lived three quarters of a mile from where the killing of Mr. Parker took place and that he could hear cursing on the occasion of the killing; that he knew the voices of Walter Gibson and the deceased and that he did not think it was their voices he heard.

On cross-examination Attorney Brooks of the defense counsel presented a drawing of the section of land on which witness Phillips testified that he lived, for the purpose of showing that it was nearer two miles from his home where he testified he was at the time he heard the cursing to where the killing occurred, the witness finally admitting this to be a fact according to the drawing and his understanding of the land section rules but that he had not thought it more than three quarters of a mile.

Shortly after 11 o'clock today the state announced that it would rest its case and the defense opened by placing Paul Houston, the defendant on the stand as the first witness.

The defendant testified that he had no connection with the killing of W. H. Parker other than being present when his brother Claude inflicted the knife ing on the stand when court adjourned. These witnesses were Mrs. W. H. Parker, wife of deceased, Sam, Tom and Walter Gibson, nephews of the defendant. With the exception of Sam Gibson, the testimony was practically the same as was given in the trial earlier in the week of Claude Houston, who was declared guilty as charged and his punishment fixed at life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

The difference in the main in Sam Gibson's testimony was that yesterday afternoon in the trial of Paul Houston he testified that he and his brother Tom had turned his cows out of the Houston brother's lot where they had been confined by the latter because of alleged damages they had done on their property. These are the cows, the impounding of which, was the direct cause of the difficulty that resulted fatally for W. H. Parker, who it is alleged had started with Walter Gibson to the home of the Houston's for the purpose of settling the dispute that had arisen between the owner, Sam Gibson, and the Houston brothers, who were attempting to repel the cows when they met Parker and Walter Gibson in the road near the Houston home where the fatal stabbing took place. Sam Gibson testified that he and his brother Tom, left their father's home together going to the home of a negro nearby the home of the Houston's to see if the negro had loaned either of the Houston brothers his shotgun; that learning that the weapon had not been secured they went to the lot where the cows were penned and turned them out; that they left the lot going up unused road back to their homes and that when they had gone about a half mile they heard loud cursing in the direction of the Houston home, turned and went back toward where the cursing was heard, in a few minutes meeting their brother, Walter Gibson, carrying the dead body of Mr. Parker in his arms. He testified that when the cows were turned loose it was just about dark, that they had been liberated because they were his cows and that the damages charged by the Houston brothers was unreasonable.

Court was adjourned for the afternoon with Walter Gibson still on the stand, his testimony being about as recited in the trial of Claude Houston up to that time. He is the nephew of the defendant who was with Mr. Parker

On cross-examination Attorney Brooks of the defense counsel, presented a drawing of the section of land on which witness Phillips testified that he lived, for the purpose of showing that it was nearer two miles from his home where he testified he was at the time he heard the cursing to where the killing occurred, the witness finally admitting this to be a fact according to the drawing and his understanding of the land section rules but that he had not thought it more than three quarters of a mile.

Shortly after 11 o'clock today the state announced that it would rest its case and the defense opened by placing Paul Houston, the defendant on the stand as the first witness.

The defendant testified that he had no connection with the killing of W. H. Parker other than being present when his brother, Claude, inflicted the knife wound in the neck that proved fatal. He further testified that he did not curse the deceased but that the latter and his brother, Claude, cursed each other, until finally deceased asked his brother not to repeat certain language he had used and when his brother did repeat it Mr. Parker turned, advanced and threw his right hand in his hip pocket as if to draw a weapon. The defendant then testified that he called to his brother, warning him to look out and at that moment his brother struck him with his knife cutting deceased. The defendant was on the stand, but had about completed his testimony when court was recessed until the afternoon.

With the ending of the Houston trial and the verdict of the jury is returned the present session of the circuit court will conclude as far as the trying of any other cases is concerned. Judge Fatheree, upon the opening of court this morning dismissing both petit juries for the term. There may be a few motions made to the court tomorrow before final adjournment is taken.

It is not expected that the Houston trial will reach the jury before late tonight if then, as the defense has a large number of witnesses to be heard before the arguments are begun.

With the jury selected yesterday afternoon the trial made fairly good progress, three of the state's most important witnesses testifying, the fourth be-lored either of the Houston brothers his shotgun; that learning that the weapon had not been secured they went to the lot where the cows were penned and turned them out; that they left the lot going an unmarked road back to their homes and that when they had gone about a half mile they heard loud cursing in the direction of the Houston home, turned and went back toward where the cursing was heard. In a few minutes meeting their brother, Walter Gibson, carrying the dead body of Mr. Parker in his arms. He testified that when the cows were turned loose it was just about dark, that they had been liberated because they were his cows and that the damages charged by the Houston brothers was unreasonable.

Court was adjourned for the afternoon with Walter Gibson still on the stand, his testimony being about as recited in the trial of Claude Houston up to that time. He is the nephew of the defendant who was with Mr. Parker when the latter was stabbed to death and testified that deceased was killed by Claude, Paul urging his twin brother, Claude, to use his knife.

Attorneys for the defense, Hardin H. Brooks and Charles B. Cameron, and the prosecutors, District Attorney Martin Miller, Frank K. Ethridge and County Attorney Cliff Mulroy, are fighting every inch of ground, the case growing in interest as it proceeds. The defense is basing its case on the theory that Paul Houston was not a participant in the killing, while the theory of the state is that he was a participant to the extent that he urged the slaying of the deceased by his brother, Claude, and is equally guilty of the crime.

DEFENSE CLOSES AND CASE IS BEING ARGUED.

The defense closed its case this afternoon with the testimony of the defendant, not putting any other witness on the stand.

The state offered two witnesses in rebuttal after which the case closed and the argument was begun shortly after 3 o'clock. Attorney Frank K. Ethridge, opening for the state. He was followed by Attorney Charles B. Cameron and Hardin H. Brooks, District Attorney Martin Miller to close for the state. The speakers were allowed one hour each and the case will go to the jury about 7:30 o'clock this evening. A verdict may not be returned until tomorrow morning.

Verdict of Not-Guilty Rendered By the Jury in Case of Paul Houston on Trial Two Days for Murder of W. H. Parker

The jury in the case of Paul Houston, on trial in the circuit court here for the past two days, charged with the murder of W. H. Parker, former justice of the peace in the Collinsville community in the northern part of the county, returned a verdict of not guilty this morning shortly after court had been called to order by Judge Fathree.

The verdict was received with joy by the friends of the defendant, the latter, however, showing but little concern when he heard the words that cleared him of the charge and gave him freedom, after having been in jail since Nov. 6, last, the day of the killing. He was indicted jointly with his twin brother Claude, who struck the knife blow that killed deceased and who was declared by the jury to be guilty as charged, his punishment being fixed at life imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

The only defense made by the attorneys representing Claude was that he was of feeble mind and not responsible for his acts under stress of extreme excitement. In the case of Paul the defense was that while the defendant was present when the killing was done he in no way was a participant, the only words he spoke, according to his testimony, was when he warned his brother, Claude, to "look out" as deceased made a threatening move with his right hand to his hip pocket.

During the course of the day counsel for Claude will make a motion for a new trial, one of the grounds for a rehearing of the case being that a pocket knife was found open near the scene of the killing and that efforts will be made to show that it was the property of deceased, who it had been testified by witnesses for the state was unarmed at the time he was cut to death by Claude Houston.

Frank Harvester, young white man who was indicted on three charges of burglary, and who entered a plea of guilty was sentenced by Judge Fathree to one year in the penitentiary. Sentence was suspended in the other two cases. The circuit court will be adjourned for the term today.

Shooting Victim Said 'Critical'

A 47-year-old Meridian man was still alive today despite a severe head wound caused by a 20-gauge shotgun blast.

Mode Parker, 1208 25th Ave., remained in critical condition in Anderson Infirmary after suffering the wound Wednesday afternoon at his home.

City detectives said the wound apparently was self-inflicted. They said part of Parker's skull and brain was blown away by the blast.

Officials said the man was found by his 10-year-old daughter, Mae Parker, who called her older brother, Ronnie Parker.

Harris Ambulance Service was called to the scene, but attendants waited until detectives made a preliminary investigation before taking Parker to the hospital.

Detectives said Parker apparently sat on the side of the bed and pulled the trigger with his toe. They said small particles of bone were scattered over the bed and some of the lead from the shell lodged in the wall and ceiling.

Coroner Vance Stephens said he was prepared to hold an inquest, but after it was discovered that Parker was still alive he could take no official action.

Parker was given a series of blood transfusions during the night.

Shooting Victim Dies Of Wounds

Mode Parker, 47-year-old Meridian man, died early Friday of a gunshot wound in the head.

City detectives said Parker shot himself with a 20-gauge shotgun Wednesday afternoon. They said the man apparently sat on the edge of a bed at his home, 1206 25th Ave., and depressed the trigger with a toe.

Harris Ambulance Service was called by Parker's son, Ronnie, after the victim was found by his 10-year-old daughter, Mae.

So severe was the head wound that Coroner Vance Stephens said he was prepared to hold an inquest.

But after a faint pulse was discovered, Parker was rushed to Anderson Infirmary where he was given emergency treatment and numerous blood transfusions.

Thieves 'Peel' Auto Company Safe

City detectives today were investigating a safe burglary at Burns Motor Company on 22nd Avenue South in which $400 to $500 was stolen from a safe.

Investigators said the burglary occurred between 3 p.m. and 8 p.m. Thursday. They said the company was entered after a small hole was broken in a window of the body shop in the rear.

The safe was rolled to the back of the building before being "peeled," detectives said. They said the burglar wore gloves in the theft.

The boxes and drawer were taken behind the company and left in the old fairgrounds, where some youths discovered them Friday.

CIRCUIT COURT MINUTES

Lauderdale County, Miss., February Term 1921. Wednesday February 9, 1921.

Third day of this term of court.

The Grand Jury this day came into open court and through their foremen did present to the court four true bills of indictment, which were received by the court and numbered and filed by the clerk of this court as follows, to-wit:

5234 Pleasant Ridges Rd.
Hickory, MS 39332
Nov. 17, 2000

Dear Mrs. Joyner,

I am Robert Kenneth "Bobby" Caldwell living in the Berry Community about 4 miles northeast of Hickory. This community used to be teeming with Caldwells, but now I'm the only one left with the Caldwell name and, yes, I've been wanting to research our family lineage for about 10 yrs. now, but hardly have time to do so as I'm caring for my mother who will be 101 yrs. old come February 21st! (How's that for a run-on sentence?)

My father, Clarence Caldwell, died in 1962 and 5 yrs. later, my mother Evva (Gibson) Caldwell married the Rev. D. V. Swearingen. They were only married about 3 months when he died in 1968. You might know one of his granddaughters Ann Swearingen. I think she teaches or did teach at West Lauderdale School. I forget what her married name is. I'm 69 yrs. old and find myself forgetting things quite easily now!!

Anyway, back to the Caldwells. I can only go back to my great grandfather and his wife, William H. Caldwell (12-16-1824 - 2-4-1933) and Sarah (McKeithern) Caldwell (10-25-1830 - 3-2-1879). He is buried in Pleasant Ridge Baptist Church Cem. here in the Berry Community and she is buried at the Johnson Family Cem. about 8 miles north of here.

The two had 10 children:

Birthdate	Name	Spouse	Location
1852	Mosephus Caldwell	Ambers Fore	Newton
1854	Josephine Caldwell	John Harris	Roberts (Newton Co.)
1855	Virginia Caldwell	Tom Reynolds	NE Newton
1857	Emmanuel Caldwell	?	Moved to L
1858	Mary Caldwell	George Reynolds	?
1863	William "Bill" Caldwell	Lou Smith	Moved to L
1865	Joseph Mossat "Moss" Caldwell	Lou Ella Thrash	Moved to L
1869	Ella Caldwell	Jack Fore	?
1873	Emma Eugenia Caldwell	Preston Everett	Hickory
1895	Sally Caldwell	Rich McGee	Hickory

3.

I did find a William Caldwell in the 1860 census living $ in the Garfieldville (Jasper Co.) area with a wife named Sarah and the ages were right and they had a girl named Josephine and another named Virginia and their ages were right, too. But they had a girl listed as Narcissa and a boy listed as Samuel and that's the only place I've come across those two names. Of course it could have been the first names of Mosephus and Emmanuel. And this family was $ living in the house with a Thomas and Mary Caldwell. Thomas was listed as 80 yrs and Mary 67 yrs. They could have been William's parents - I don't know. I really am thankful that you are doing this research so I'm enclosing a check for $10.00 to cover postage costs of anything you can mail to me. Also enclosing a picture of my Grandpa "Moss" Caldwell's family.

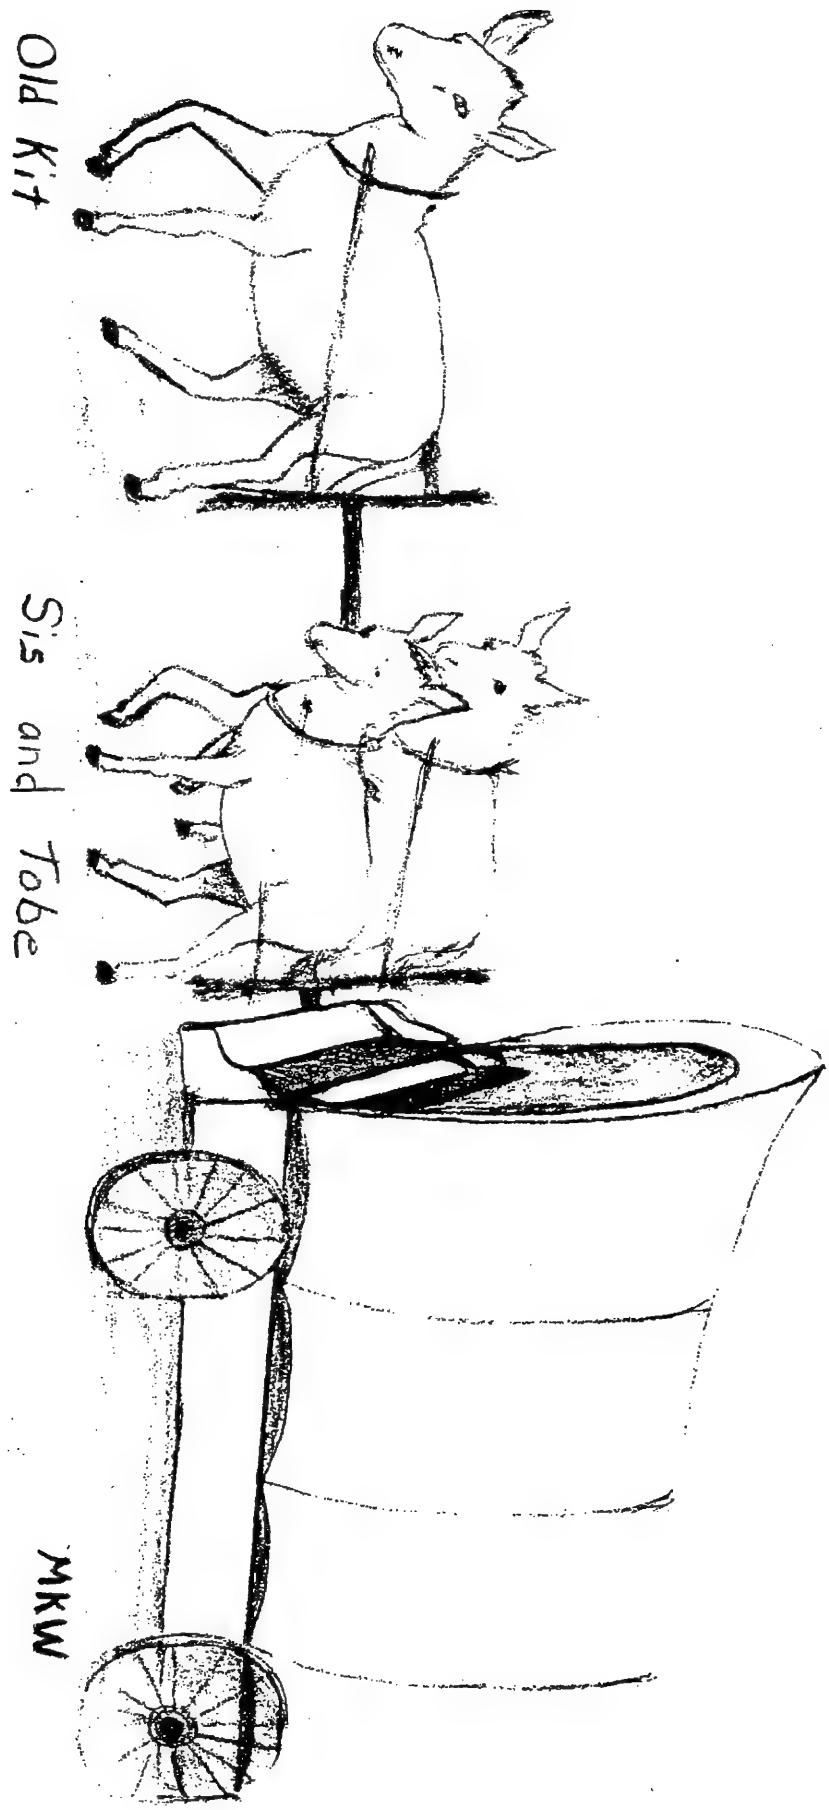

Thanks again, Bobby Caldwell

Arvel Moore Home Little Rock, Miss

Mangham, Louisiana sounded like the other side of the world to me when I heard Papa talking to Mama about moving there in the fall of 1916. I hurried out of the house to find Bertha, Clifton and Louie to tell them what I had heard Papa saying. We didn't want to leave Coontail School or Pleasant Grove Baptist Church, but mainly we didn't want to leave our cousins, (Uncle John's boys) Bart Herrington, Lee Herrington, Walter Herrington and many others.

So many things had happened to the Moore family in the past year. In their little house that Papa had homesteaded, when he and Mama got married, in the hills of Newton County, Mississippi, Arvel and Lula lived with Katie, 12, Bertha, 10, Clifton 8, Louie, 6, and Toley, 1. Papa planted cotton and had had a good crop until this year, but this year the boll weevils had almost taken the crop. I stood in the field with Papa and saw where the boll weevils had stung the blooms and felt so helpless. There was no insecticides or anything to use to rid us of these pests in 1916. When picking time came there was hardly a bale of cotton to be picked.

Papa and Uncle Virgil decided to go to Mangham, where they had heard the boll weevil had not hit the cotton, and find a place to share crop. They left early in October and arrived in Mangham at cotton picking time. They decided to stay and help get the crop in before coming home.

We missed Papa so, he had never been gone more than overnight before. Finally he came home in early November. He told Mama tales of plantations with over 2 bales of cotton per acre in and around Mangham, La. He knew of several places around Mangham and Delhi where we could get a place to share crop and eventually maybe a place of our own. And better than that Uncle Virgil, Aunt Viola, Ansel and Maxine were going with us.

Papa said Mama, Aunt Viola and us kids could come by train. Oh boy, how exciting. We had never been on a train before, but Papa had told us about it--eating on the train and sleeping on it and how fast it went. Papa and Uncle Virgil would bring our new covered wagon with our mules. Sis and Tobe and Old Kit (Uncle Lijah's mule) hitched up in front. They could bring our mattresses, pots, pans, dishes and clothes and some tools. So we started packing the covered wagon with the long bed on it with all the things we thought we would need. Every day we would sneak out and stick another treasure in the corner. There were so many things we just had to take. But Papa would find them and tell us there was just not room.

Mama was busy deciding what to take and what to leave behind and readying our clothes for the trip on the train. She made Bertha, Louie and me dresses just alike out of blue poplin with embroidered trim on the collars. Clifton had some short pants with a white shirt. We all got new button up shoes.

Then Mama and Aunt Viola were talking and decided that maybe Uncle Virgil and Papa shouldn't make that long trip alone. This really sounded good to me. A train ride was exciting, but going in the covered wagon with Papa was so much better. We could camp out every night, have picnics every day and even get to drive the wagon when the road was good. And we could take our little dog Shep. We had begged Mama to take him on the train, but she had said we couldn't. But now we could take him. He could help take care of us on the long ride to Louisiana. He was a good watchdog and would bark furiously when any strangers came near our home.

We were almost beside ourselves, hiding treasures in the corner of the wagon, talking about what we thought would happen and telling our cousins we would write them and getting promises for them to write to us.

We told all our classmates at Coontail School goodby and promised to write to them.

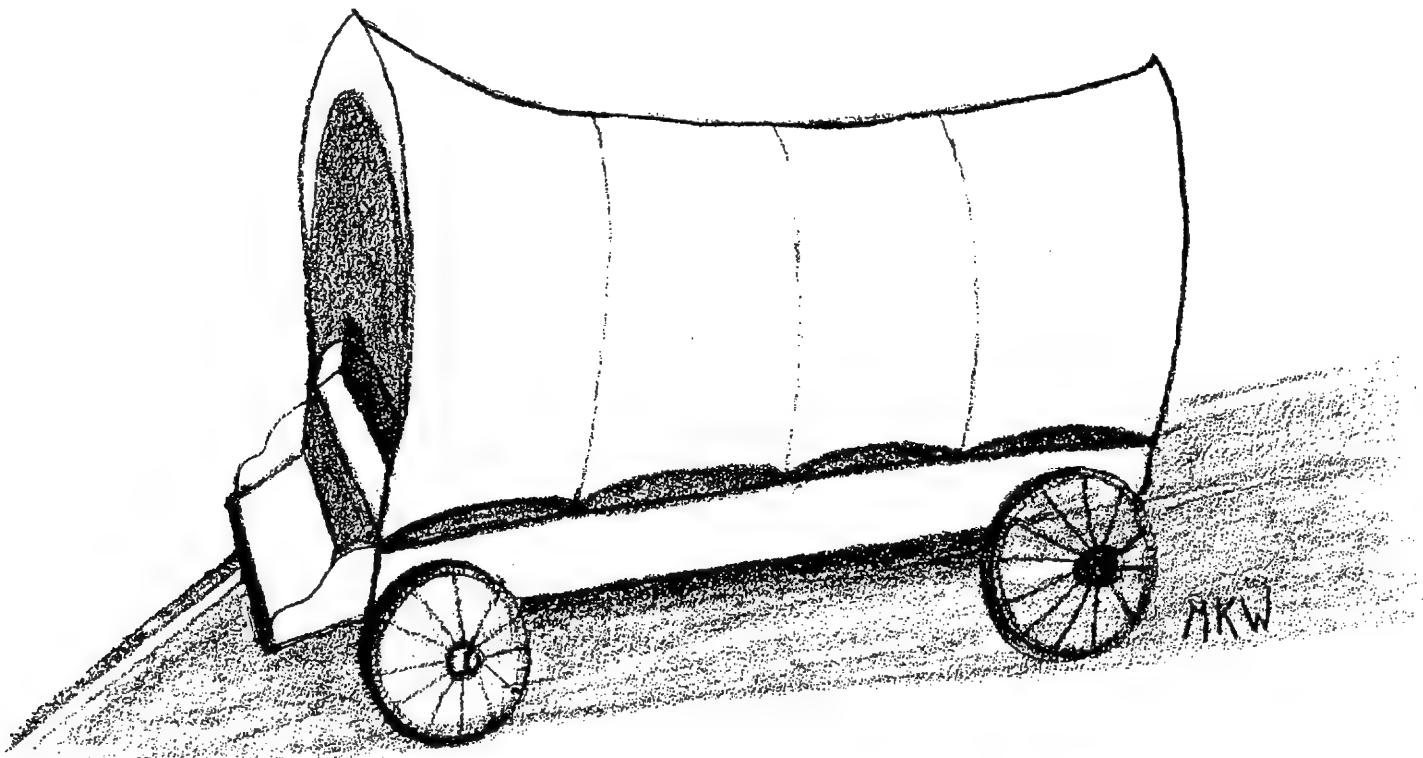

Papa wanted to move to Louisiana to get a new start, but he also wanted to get us away from Newton County Mississippi. He said that nearly everyone in Newton County was related to us and that we shouldn't marry someone kin to us. Of course, I was not interested in marrying anyone.

Mama hoped that we could find the Reverend Nathan Ames and our cousin. Several years before Aunt LuAnna (Mama's oldest sister) had run away and married this young preacher. Grandpa had followed them and made Aunt LuAnna come back home. But a few months later Papa had carried her to Meridian to have his baby. After the baby was born, Grandpa had come back home to get Mama to come to take care of Aunt LuAnna. (This was before Mama and Papa married). While he was gone the young Preacher came to the hospital to see Aunt LuAnna and his baby. Aunt LuAnna died and the Preacher talked the nurse into giving him the baby. When Mama got there with Grandpa Aunt LuAnna had died and the baby was gone. Mama had been trying ever since then to find out what had happened to our little Cousin and the Preacher. The last thing that she had heard was that he was somewhere in northern Louisiana.

My birthday was on November 14 and we were planning to leave on November 18, 1916 on Mama's birthday. Mama decided to give me a birthday party and we would have a going away party all at the same time.

Early on the morning of November 14 the cousins and aunts and uncles began to arrive. Everyone brought cakes and pies and fried chicken and all sorts of good things to eat. Papa put boards across the top of the wagon bed and all the food was spread on it. Before evening 56 cousins had gathered. What a good time we had! We played chase, hide and seek, Hail Over, baseball, Two-eyed Cat (a ball game), hopscotch and jacks, and many other games. I was champion at jacks. Pallets were put down and many of the cousins that lived too far stayed all night. What a grand time we had eating and playing and playing and eating. Then we talked way into the night about our TRIP. Papa had told us about the big river we would cross on the ferry and we told big tales about what we would do on the ferry.

The morning after the party, the packing began in earnest. We grieved about giving our cat away. So we decided to take her to Aunt Della's and the cat got away, but did follow us there. Mama and Papa sold everything we couldn't take or send for later. We stayed at Aunt Della's the next to the last night and at Aunt Pearlee's the last night. On the morning of November 18, 1916 we left for Neshobia, Mississippi. Papa wanted to talk to Polk Tyner before he left. (Polk Tyner later founded Tyner-Petrus in West Monroe, La.)

I was so excited that I hardly knew whether to laugh or cry. To go to Louisiana would be so exciting, but how could I leave my cousins and friends in Little Rock. Papa had stacked four mattresses in the back of the wagon. All of us kids piled in on top of them and waved goodby to everyone and called to Shep to come on as we rode down the dirt road.

A little way down the road we asked Papa if we could walk with Shep and he said we could if we would keep up. We walked along, sang, chased Shep, called to Mama, played chase with Ansel, and looked for rabbits and squirrels. About dinnertime we stopped under a big tree for lunch. Aunt Nancy and Aunt Pearlee Chesny had packed us a big lunch of fried chicken, fried apple pies, potato salad, corn bread and lemonade. Mama spread a blanket out and we had our first picnic. Boy was it good! Almost like a party. Then on down the road we went. I saw a squirrel and Shep wanted to chase it, but I called him to come on.

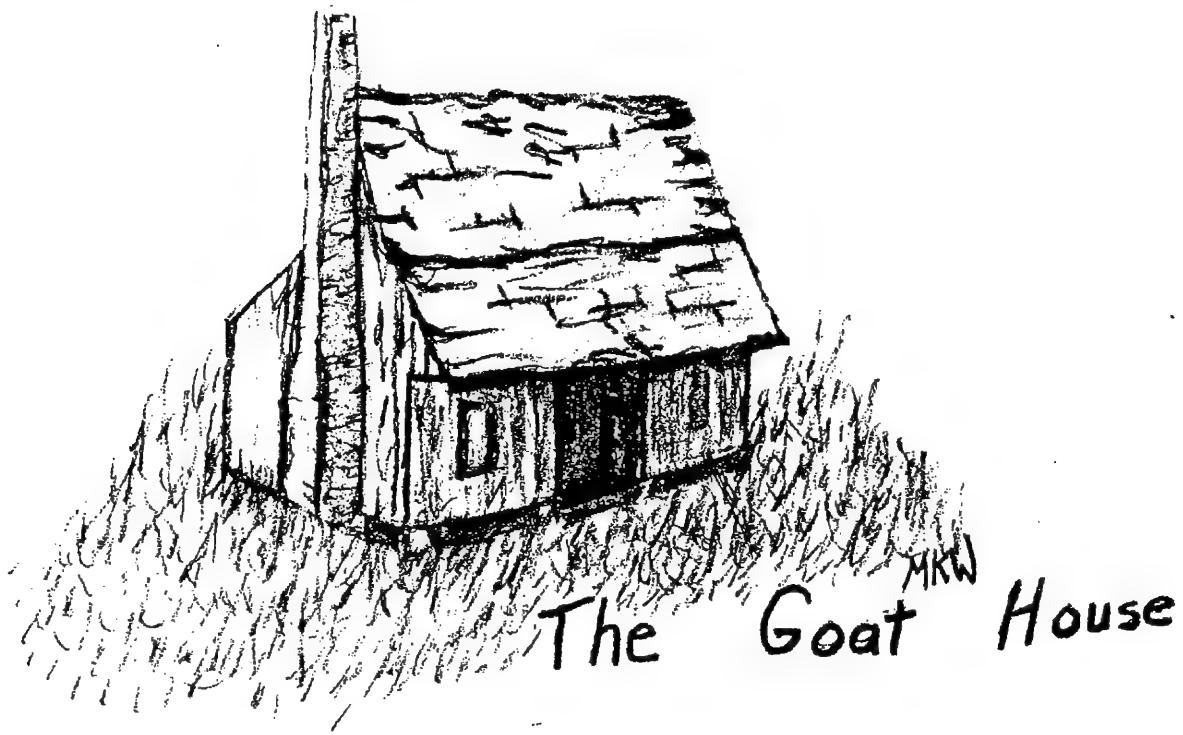

Shep was the only dog we had ever had and I sure didn't want him to get lost. Our cousin (Leslie Crenshaw) had found him on the road between our house and his when he ran away from home. He stayed with us until he got over being mad at Uncle Bob and when he went back home Mama let us keep Shep. Ever so often he would wander off the muddy road chasing something and we would all start calling him. He would come bounding back, wagging his tail and jumping on us and licking our hands.

About dark we came to Mr. Tyner's house. It was very high off the ground and Mama accidentally stepped off the edge of the narrow porch and fell about 6 feet. She could have hurt herself badly, but fortunately she was only bruised and stiff.

We were disappointed that night. We slept in normal beds and ate at the dining table at Mr. Tyners. We wanted to camp out and picnic. Little did we know that we would get enough of camping and picnicking in the next 6 weeks.

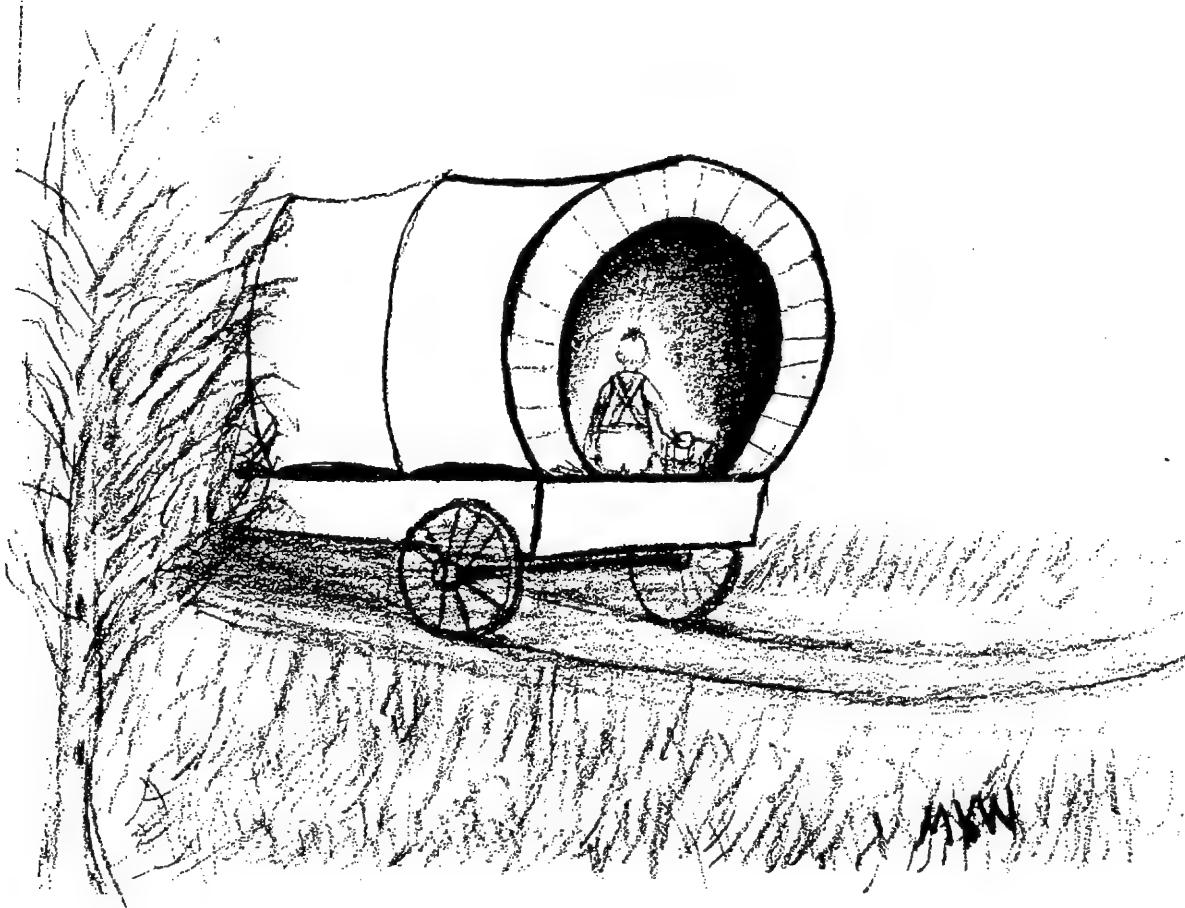

The next morning Grandpa decided to go to Louisiana with us. He and Grandma were separated and had been for years. Mama said they separated because Grandpa didn't like the new cotton planters. He wanted Grandma to plant cotton the old way--stir ashes and sand together in each hole before the seed is planted. Grandma didn't want to do it this way. Grandma stayed with Aunt Letha Bell, Mama's youngest sister. Grandpa came along to help with the crops.

All day that day we ran along behind the wagon, chased Shep, played chase with each other, jumped over mud holes, drove the mules when Papa would let us, or watched the wagon tracks out the back of the wagon. Mr. Tyner's daughter-in-law had packed us a big basket of food, ham, potato salad, fried pies and cake, corn bread and lemonade. We picnicked again and then climbed into the back of the wagon and slept a while.

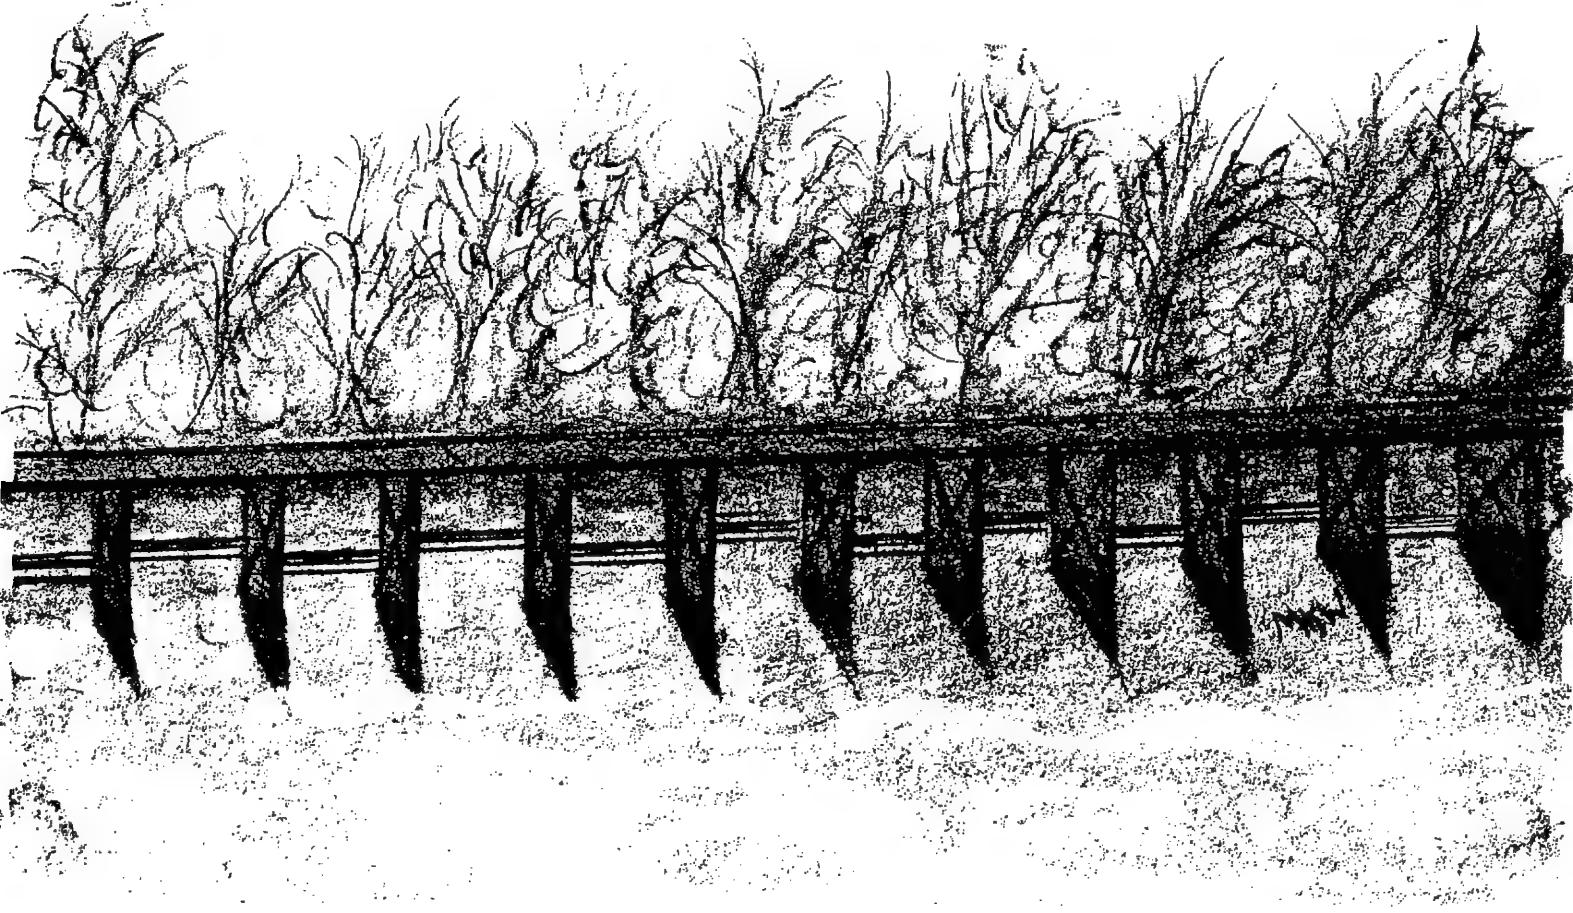

About dark we came upon the house near Decator. The people had a small house and did not have room for us. Boy we would get to camp out! They had an old farm house that they had turned into a goat house. They said that we could stay there if we would like to. Papa got our mattresses out and we went inside. We had never seen a goat, but we soon knew what they smelled like. And the water tasted like stink bugs smell. It was awful. But we got to camp out and lay sideways across the mattress and whispered way into the night about the big river and the ferry and all the things we would do when we got to Vicksburg.

We had our food packed in apple boxes. Clifton sat in the back of the wagon and took the top off a one pound jar of peanut butter. The next day as we drove along he put his finger down in the jar and ate it. As the miles piled up behind us he kept digging in that peanut butter jar. By lunch time he had eaten the whole jar. Mama wondered why he didn't want any sardines, crackers and lemonade when we picniced at lunch. (Uncle Clifton said he didn't want any more peanut butter for the next 45 years.)

As we neared the Pearl River west of Pelahatchie, Papa said he had heard that the bridge was out. When we got closer we saw that the bridge was out. We would have to ford the river with the wagon. Papa, Uncle Virgil and Grandpa were very busy with the mules and wagon. Mama and Aunt Viola were watching Ansel, Louie, Maxine and Toley. I was busy trying to get Shep in the wagon. Even though it was slightly raining, Mama said I could because I was so afraid he would drown. Clifton and Bertha decided they had had enough of camping out, rain, cold and "going to Louisiana." The railroad track ran right along the muddy trail of a road and went across the river right beside the fallen bridge. Clifton told Bertha that this was the same track that went right by Coontail School. They could just climb up the trestle and follow the track to Little Rock and live with Grandma. They hurried up the trestle and were headed "home" when I saw them from the side of the wagon where I was holding Shep. At that same time I heard the train way off in the distance. I screamed to Papa and he climbed up the trestle and grabbed Clifton and Bertha off the track just as the train appeared across the Pearl River. Papa wouldn't spank them, but he didn't let them out of the wagon for the rest of the day.

The river was low - the winter rains hadn't started yet. The wagon floated alright and we got across, but we were very wet, cold and scared.

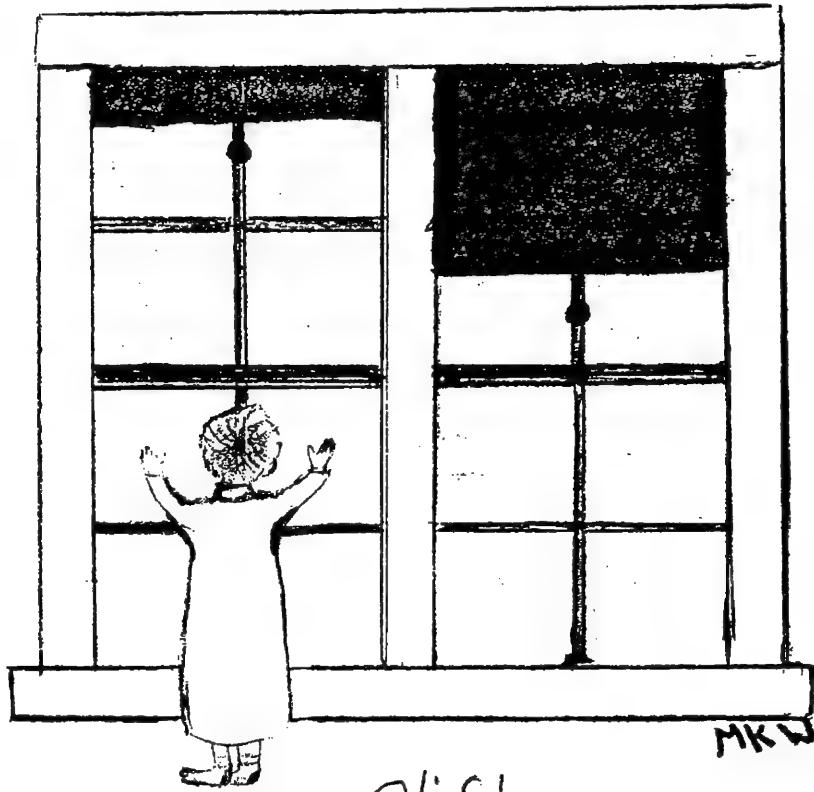

We neared Jackson late that evening. We saw some people out running in funny suits. We thought they were crazy and were from the lunatic asylum nearby. (Actually they were ball players jogging in warmups.)

When we got to Jackson late that night, we built a big campfire. Things looked better by the campfire. Everything was so wet that Mama, Aunt Viola and the four littlest ones (Louie, Ansel, Maxine and Toley) slept in the hotel. Clifton, Bertha and I stayed with Papa, Uncle Virgil and Grandpa in the wagon--out in the wagon yard. Grandpa tied Old Kit near the end of the wagon for the night. In the night he put his head under the end of the wagon where Papa had put the 25 pound bag of flour so we'd have more room in the wagon. Old Kit pulled it out. He shook that bag and ate that flour all night long. He made so much racket with it that the old Negro woman that lived just over the fence where we were camped kept hollering (Lawdy mercy - help me) all night long. She was afraid he was going to knock down the fence and be in her house. We had never seen but 2 Negros and we were afraid of her and her hollering. We were very glad when morning came. Flour was all over the ground. It looked like snow - boy did we have fun drawing pictures in the flour and making tracks in it. But we didn't have any flapjacks for breakfast that morning. Papa bought some more flour later that day.

Late the next night we neared Bolton. We were wet and cold and tired. We came up to this commissary on a large plantation. Papa stopped and we all crowded inside. The building was full of blacks--all crowded around a small wood stove in the middle of the store. They wouldn't move for us to get warm. The man in the store told them to move and not one moved. He reached under the counter and pulled out a shotgun--again he said "Move". All of them moved. Boy was it nice. We stayed there that night.

The next day as we neared Vicksburg a car full of drunks came toward us. They were being loud and rowdy. Old Kit got scared and pulled backwards and broke the wagon tongue. It was very dark-about 11 o'clock at night. Papa had to try to see how to fix it with a campfire light. We had a cord in the wagon that we used to hang clothes to dry. The wagon tongue was just split so Papa used the cord to tie the tongue back together and then nailed it. Papa didn't put him back in front, but tied him to the back of the wagon. Every time we approached a car or wagon he neighed and rushed to the opposite side. He didn't like the lights and noise. This made us very late getting to Vicksburg.

Clifton

Papa had said that we would stay in a hotel in Vicksburg. Since we got there late, we could not see out the window. The next morning Clifton woke us up screaming "Mama, Mama the whole world has turned to water, we've got to go back to Little Rock." He had looked out the window and straight below us and as far as he could see was the Mississippi River. We had never seen a body of water that we couldn't see across. Mama finally convinced us that everything was alright. We dressed in our poplin dresses and Clifton in his short knicker pants and white shirt and set out for the "dime" store. We had never been to a "dime" store before. Mama gave us all a dime and we got our money's worth. We shopped and shopped and spent those dimes ten times only to put it back and find another "goodie". Bertha got a small doll in a scrap of a blanket, Clifton got a little truck, Louie got a baby doll and I got some new jacks. Grandpa bought us all a nickel watch on a chain to wear around our neck. This was better than Christmas.

We loaded up everything and arrived at the ferry late that day. The ferry was propelled by a huge paddle wheel in the back. Old Kit, Sis and Tobe would not go up the ramp to get on the ferry regardless of how loud Papa yelled "Giddap." Finally the big deck hands just crossed their arms under Old Kit's stomach, locked their hands under him, picked him up, and sat him over on the ferry. Then they came back for Sis and Tobe. Then they came back and pulled the wagon on by hand.

Mama had let a Negro woman hold Toley and we were so afraid that she would hurt Toley or keep her that we couldn't look at the river or hardly think about it. Mama had lost a baby boy and a baby girl (died at birth) just older than Toley and many a time I went to look at her to see if she was still breathing. She had asthma real bad and it was touch and go all that first year, but she was better now.

Finally we neared the other side of the river. Old Kit and Sis and Tobe would not go off the ferry. The deck hands had to pick them up again and carry them off. Clifton decided that he might just be a deck hand on a ferry boat when he grew up.

That night we stayed in a plantation home where two old bachelors lived. They had a victrola that played. We had never seen a victrola or heard a cylinder. Everybody stayed up and Mama let us stay up very late to listen to the cylinders over and over again.

The road was just trees cut away with wagon tracks for one wagon. Just out of Tallulah we met up with a wagon load of blacks. They had a little room on their right but would not move over to let us pass. Uncle Virgil said, "Move over and let us pass. Our wagon is loaded and will sink in the mud." They did not budge an inch. Uncle Virgil said, "Clifton, hand me that shotgun." That's the last we saw of the blacks. They took out through the woods. Little did they know that the shotgun was harder on the person who shot it than it was on the person who was shot at.

Papa was knocked flat of the ground the last time he shot at a squirrel.

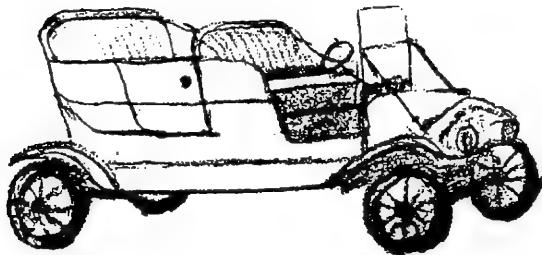

Near Delhi we pulled into a yard to see if we could camp there for the night. It was a Negro home. Papa asked them if we could rake up pecan leaves to put our mattresses on. The Negroes said that we could. She also said Mama could bring our biscuits in and bake them the next morning. We had not had biscuits but a couple of times since we left Little Rock. Boy were they good--biscuits and syrup. Papa liked it so much that he asked if we could camp there again the next night.

We all set out for Holly Ridge to see if Papa could find a farm to share crop. Our little dog Shep followed behind the wagon. I couldn't find him as we headed back toward Delhi. We called for him at every farm, little store and cotton gin. For hours late into the night Papa drove the mules and we called for Shep. Finally Papa said we'd have to go on back to Delhi and try to get to sleep. As we pulled in to the same place we had camped the night before, we saw him, sitting there in the leaves where we had camped the night before. How happy we all were. Shep was running around and barking and wagging his tail and all of us were trying to hug him at once.

The next day we watched Shep anxiously and called to him repeatedly. We were afraid he would go back to the Negroes where all the good biscuits were.

We pulled into a place to camp that night. It had some old dilapidated buildings with scatterings of cotton all around. Papa thought it was an old abandoned cotton gin. Papa made us a fire and all of us were scattering around hunting more wood for the fire. Clifton had a stick playing in the fire. About that time a man came riding in furiously on a black and white horse. He hollered at Papa, "Put out that fire--you can't camp here. Out back are several bales of cotton. It's against the law to build a fire near a cotton gin." He said he owned the gin and the law wouldn't even let him build a fire. They would arrest him and us too if he let us camp there. Papa hurriedly got some water and put out the fire and we moved on.

All the next day we watched anxiously over our shoulders as we watched for the law that we were just sure was coming after us. We watched the wagon track road behind us all day. Late that evening a T-Model Ford car with a huge man in it appeared behind us. Here was the law--we kids were sure. He came along beside the wagon and handed Papa a large black satchel. We didn't know what a satchel had to do with being arrested, but he was surely arresting Papa. Imagine our surprise as we hurried up to catch up with the wagon and heard Aunt Viola thanking him. She had left it at the cotton gin. It had all of Maxine's baby clothes in it.

The next day we arrived at Dixie Island--a large plantation where Papa thought we could stay and share crop.

Sure enough we could and there was a nice house practically furnished. Two rooms even was filled with cotton. Also there was a winter garden already planted and potatoes under the house. Papa built a big fire and Mama boiled potatoes and greens and peanuts. We hadn't had anything boiled for weeks.

There was plenty of land available to share crop. It was almost Christmas time. Things were looking good.
